Computer tag sale bid goes to bank

By a 4-0 vote with one member abstaining, the board of supervisors Monday accepted Hancock Bank's bid as lowest and best to provide computer services for automobile license sales this fall.

Sheriff-Tax Collector Fred Curet recommended the bank on the advice of a person he said was familiar with computer operations. Bids were opened early June 3, from Hancock Bank at $2,195 for the first year and $1,960 for the second year and from Computer Service, Inc., which had drawn up the original proposal, at $3,505 for the first year.

A decision had been scheduled at a recessed meeting June 10 but deferred for the sheriff and supervisors to look into the matter more since all claimed little knowledge of computers.

The motion finally came Monday from C.A. Russ, III, Beat 1 supervisor, seconded by Joseph Curran of Beat 3.

Beat 4 Supervisor J.C. (Doc) Maufrey abstained. He said he thought computer mail sales would be a good idea but that the county was "in a rougher shape than you realize," and mail sales would simply mean fewer county residents would come to Bay St. Louis. Because of the way the county is situated, 80 per cent of the citizens never come to the Courthouse now, Maufrey argued. Those from the northern area use the Piacyns hospital and stores now and to call license by mail would displace with another reason for them to come to the Bay.

Curet noted most previous sheriff-tax collectors had sent deputies to the outlying areas to call tags as a public service and that was a costly operation. Curran commented that when Bay St. Louis' citizens are faced, the people will come here again. The sheriff emphasized that computer-mail sales may be a temporary measure, depending on how it works out. He will pay the computer cost from his funds as they come in. He noted other counties are doing all Courthouse operations by computer, whereas he is proposing only one.

Board president Russell J. Elliott of Beat 5 said he was voting "reluctantly" for the plan as he felt he didn't know enough about it.

At the onset of the meeting, W. Wilson Wobro, chief deputy tax collector, reported on the efforts of Curet's office to collect delinquent personal property taxes and supervisors, on the motion of Dolph Kollar, directed him to take what steps are necessary to get the money. Wobro suggested 1964 as the cut-off date and the board left that to the tax collector's discretion.

Wobro reported a study of the tax books showed more than $60,000 owed in personal taxes between 1964 and 1967—mostly from firms associated with Mississippi Test Facility in its construction period which had now moved the equipment out of the state. Just the other day they got $3,500 on a delinquent account with property in Beards 1 and 2. He commended the cooperation of Tax Assessor George Hoffmann in tracking down the case.

The chief deputy observed that he did not consider it the responsibility of the present administration to collect delinquent funds from a previous administration but because of the amount involved, he recommended pursuing the matter.

Because of these efforts, Curet's office has collected more than 100 per cent of the assessment for 1967, even with a slight percentage of delinquencies on current bills, Wobro noted.

Mrs. E.C. Samuel, president of the City-County Public Library board, wrote reminding the board of its pledge to hold a referendum on a $100,000 bond issue for the new library building and urging it be moved up from Nov. 5 because the library fund drive starts July 1. Since no county-wide election is scheduled before the presidential balloting in November, an earlier date was ruled out. Supervisors Russ and Kollar noted that should the library board carry, it would mean the necessary millage could not be levied until 1968, September is the tax fixing time.

Say bad publicity printing dockets

The state law which requires publication of the county's claim dockets each month results in some bad publicity for the county and the money could be better spent in making improvements, a Waveland merchant told the board of supervisors Monday.

D.E. Wilcox called the practice "an antiquated system" and wanted to know why the board did not cook a local and private bill in the state legislature to eliminate this requirement.

He suggested that such public records be placed on the bulletin board in the Courthouse where interested citizens might examine them, rather than in the newspaper, which he said, invited adverse comment from many uninterested citizens. Most of the persons on the county payrolls, Wilcox argued, were embarrassed by the fact that their salaries were published.

Beat 2 Supervisor Dolph Kollar interrupted to say that under the law this information must be published and Joseph H. Bonvenutti, board attorney, noted his concurrence. Wilcox maintained this did not occur in all counties, even if it were the law.

Russell J. Elliott, Beat 5 supervisor and board president, commented that he might agree the money could be spent better elsewhere but he did not object to publishing the dockets. He explained the board "had nothing to hide."

Another topic of "embarrassment" was raised by Bay St. Louis Mayor John A. Scaife who once again sought an agreement among his city, the county and the town of Waveland over operating costs at the Jackson Ridge sanitary fill, established last year on the recommendation of health authorities.

Scaife reported the city in threatened with a suit by Shell Oil Co. for some $700 worth of fuel used at the fill which has been held, anticipating an agreement among the three governing units. Waveland Mayor Garfield Lador had been invited by letter to Monday's meeting in the hope of reaching an accord but did not appear. At least one other effort to get

Eye change on Rt. 600, ponder beach road job

Deleting Rt. 600—the Caesar to Necanic Road—from the state highway system and improving it as a state aid project was suggested to the board of supervisors Monday by Rep. Walter J. Phillips as he related money problems facing the state legislature.

The highway program passed in the Senate includes provision for work on Rt. 600 but because the Senate and House conference committees haven't been able to get together on financing, Phillips said he's skeptical that many of the highways scheduled for improvements will get them.

A decision was delayed until the July 1 session and the board said it would try to get a definite commitment from W.H. Pryor, southern district highway commissioner. Beat 4 supervisor J.C. Maufrey commented that if the state will do the job, state aid money could be better used elsewhere. Maufrey and Dolph Kollar of Beat 2 are to check with residents along Rt. 600 to get their views.

Two other major road projects in the county also came under consideration—the Ansley state aid project and emergency relief repairs to the beach road.

Joseph H. Bonvenutti, board attorney, reported the $100,000 loan from Hancock Bank to help finance the county's share of the beach project was validated at a hearing before Chancellor William G. Howes last Thursday. Russell J. Elliott, board president, was to sign the necessary papers to notify the State Highway Department the county's money is available to it can start to vehicle moving to contractors for bids.

Emersonchomko on the county's easements and rights of way along the road were discussed. County Engineer H.C. Malchow is to be asked to check the plans against what is on the ground so the county can notify residents to move shrubs, fences and the like and get utility firms to clear any encroachments they may have.

Discussion continued over securing an easement along the Thian property on Ansley Road. The state advised the board to go ahead and complete the job as soon as it proceeds with eminent domain if that is its choice.

Supervisors approved Claim docket B submitted by the port and harbor commission, accepted Eugene O. Richardson's low bid of $858 to draw fences around the new airport property, but held for checking bills for labor at the West Hancock port site when it discovered some duplications with claims it had authorized earlier.

The port commission June 3 loaned the Beat 5 road and harbor fund $9,000 to pay for its work at the port site but it developed some workers' time had been turned in twice. Howes bills ran over by $1,266.84 and the port commission paid $1,558.62 on other items. The commission found advances to Beat 5 totaled $10,558.62 and to simplify the matter it recommended that the amount inadvertently paid directly by the port construction fund be repaid by applying the amount due to the supervisors.

Major items on B docket were $88,528.98 to Bauer Drilling and $24,995 to Yates & Pastorek, airport contractors.

The board voted to transfer

$3,722.37 from the Beat 5 road relocation fund to the beat fund and $1,314.17 from Beat 4 relocation to its regular beat fund. Both Beats 4 and 5 transferred the balances of their road and bridge funds from Hancock Bank to Gulf National, both institutions now being county depositories.

Waveland hires new dog catcher

Waveland town council unanimously named Morris Garcia as new dog catcher at its brief mid-month meeting on June 19.

Garcia, a carpenter, accepted the position on a fee basis of $1 per plus any pound fees realized from reclaiming of dogs by owners.

C.O. Dufour, clerk, announced an approximate 70 per cent increase in sales tax for the period of April 15 through May 15; as the amount jumped from $1,500 to $2,871.86.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sistrunk, representing Waveland Boy Scout troops, were issued a non-profit organization permit for a concession stand to operate on the corner of Coleman Avenue and Beach Blvd. over the Fourth of July weekend. Scouts were authorized to set up a first aid station on the beach and funds from the concession will defray expenses for this project.

Further business was scheduled for the next session on July 2.

On the eve of two big holiday weekends, the bodies of three persons, two teenage boys and an elderly man, were recovered here, after they apparently drowned in two separate mishaps.

The youths, Glenn Lehman of Berry, Ind., and Joe Hull of Gulfport, both 17, disappeared beneath the waters of Mississippi Sound about 4:45 p.m. Monday as four other members of their swimming party were pulled to safety. They were members of a group of ten attending a Monmouth workshop at Gulfside Assembly. They had arrived on June 12, and planning to remain until Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralom Seirch of Bluffton, Ohio, chaperones, said they had warned the youths to remain near shore, explaining that three markers about 100 yards off the beach warned of deep water.

Their companions, Sus Dick of Woodbreak, Ind.; Becky Voder, Ft. Wayne, Ind.; Stephanie Ediger, Buhler, Kan., and Gena Koutman, Gulfport, said they were standing in water about chest-high when waves appeared to become much stronger, and suddenly they were unable to touch bottom. Seirch and several other swimmers managed to pull the three girls and one boy to the posts, but were unable to reach Lehman and Hull.

Fred Bourgeois, Waveland town marshal, notified Sheriff Fred Curet and Lucien Kidd, civil defense director, and search for the bodies was underway within minutes. Fishing and pleasure boats and a small plane piloted by Patrolman Gary Woodin of the state police arrived and scoured the area until darkness and rough seas forced postponement until daybreak Tuesday.

Coast Guardsmen, Keeler Field divers, a boat from Gulfport Naval Station and Mississippi and Louisiana conservation boats, joined in the effort beginning again at 5:30 a.m. Tuesday. Extreme depth of the water at the scene, a hole dredged during erection of the sand berm, prolonged recovery of the first body, that of Lehman, struggling heavily loaded the remains several times, only to have it fall again to the bottom. He was brought to shore at 1:45 p.m. and efforts to find Hull were called off again as darkness fell.

At 1:05 Wednesday, 36 hours after the massive project got underway, a shrimp boat reported the body floating about two miles out from Bayou Caddy, well over a mile from where he was last seen. Kidd, in the civil defense boat, brought Hull to shore. He was taken to Gulfport by Lockheed Funeral Home ambulances. Funeral arrangements are incomplete. Lehman's body was sent to Berne for burial.

The third victim, Peter Carver, 82, of Bayou Phillip Subdivision was recovered from a canal near his home shortly after noon Monday. He reportedly left the house at 2 p.m. Sunday to get water from a nearby tap, according to his blind brother, Manuel Carver, with whom he lived. An unidentified friend of the family went by the house Monday to

Legion fair starts early 4th festivity

The American Legion's 15th annual fair will kick off Fourth of July activities at 5 p.m. this Saturday and Sunday, climaxing in a spectacular fireworks display at 9:30 p.m. Sunday.

Lucien Kidd, '68 chairman, says there will be booths, games, food and beverages for entertainment of all age groups, on the beach in front of the Legion home. Proceeds will go for the Legion annual Christmas party for county children.

City police will have all parking on the beach between Bookler and Ballentine Streets during the fair, and Washington Street will be one way from Hancock to the beach to ease the traffic flow. Extra parking spaces will be made available through the use of Spaulding's lot and the service of Symons and Beach Blvd.

Sensing the news

By Thurman Sensing, Southern States Industrial Corporation

Yet there are some people in this country — people who should know better—who want to redesign our system so that it gives the drone full equality with the worker. A year ago last February, the National Commission on Technology, Automation, and Economic Progress came up with a 210-page report endorsing a guaranteed minimum annual wage for every American. If the commission's report is translated into law, the citizen who chooses not to work will get a cash allowance from the government. It will be his constitutional right, say advocates of the plan.

It is not surprising to find Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, endorsing this plan. Mr. Reuther long has has been associated with radical schemes to redistribute the wealth. But it is shocking to find several prominent businessmen advocating such an unbusinesslike proposal.

Just how unbusinesslike it is may be gauged from the commission's estimate that providing a guaranteed annual income to all could cost between $8 billion and $20 billion a year. Now, that's quite a gap—something more than the difference between two cents and twenty cents.

But even this prediction is based on the assumption that not many citizens will choose to draw their cash allowances while relaxing in an easy chair. But the promoters of the guaranteed annual income scheme seem to know as little about human motivations as they do about the cost of the plan.

It is a particularly arrogant manifestation of man's obsession with hurry-hurry-hurry. Within the next few weeks, a decision will have to be made in Congress on an appropriation or the SST in the coming fiscal year. The administration has asked for

McCarthy gaining

It begins to look as if Sen. Eugene McCarthy, despite all previous predictions, may have some chance of humiliating Vice President Humphrey as the Democratic nominee.

The surprise showing made by McCarthy in the New York primary has jolted Democratic leaders. Privately they are stacking this up alongside Humphrey's poor showing in his home state of South Dakota and in Oregon, where his supporters actively sought a write-in vote. They have concluded that there is a real stigma attached to the LBJ trademark and that voters are increasingly sour on the "line."

On the other hand, Humphrey made an excellent showing before the National Press Club last week, a hard-boiled audience which is

Nixon's wooing

Former Vice President Nixon has been wooing a lot of Republicans as his Vice Presidential running mate. He has passed the word to Gov. Reagan's backers in California that he needs California to win in November, therefore would like to see Reagan on his ticket.

He has told supporters of Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois that his close defeat in Illinois eight years ago cost him the Presidency and that having Percy as his running mate would prevent this from happening again.

He has hinted to Gov. Romney of Michigan that he needs a man of Romney's square-jawed integrity to counteract public misgivings about Nixon's past.

He has even cast word to Maryland that he is prepared to

Reagan in California

There's a dramatic political event developing in California almost without notice in the face of the nation. A grassroots campaign, led by Ed and Peggy Keegan of Sacramento, is within 180,000 signatures of removing Gov. Ronald Reagan from office.

The recall movement failed last year, as it has been largely ignored by the press this year. However, 680,000 signatures have been collected and it's only necessary to get 750,000 to force Reagan's recall. A million signatures are enough by the legal deadline of July 31.

The entire process may be needed in case some voters act to have their names removed from the petition at the last minute.

Sirhan's motive

The FBI in Los Angeles is studying into the possibility that Sirhan Sirhan, accused killer of Sen. Robert Kennedy, may have sought revenge for investigations of his brothers.

Sirhan Sirhan himself never got into trouble with the Immigration Service. But a deportation order was filed against him and his brother after he was convicted of passing out counterfeit money for the unauthorized application of another brother's passport because of three arrests for drunkenness. The brothers were charged of driving while intoxicated.

The investigations of the two brothers were dropped when Kennedy resigned as a Attorney General. But James Earl Ray did not know this and might have had Kennedy responsible for his brothers' troubles.

Four night stand set by theater

The Pleasure of His Company, the third Little Theater production of the current season, will be presented on four successive nights beginning on July 18, according to director Burt Barrett.

This will be the first time in recent years that performances are scheduled to run through Sunday, and it is believed that the extra night will be a convenience to those unable to attend on week nights.

Classed as a sophisticated comedy, the play was successful both on Broadway and in the movie version. The setting is present-day San Francisco and the plot concerns the return, after 15 years, of an international playboy to visit his ex-wife on the occasion of their daughter's wedding.

The cast includes Cal Smith,
Emily de Montluzin, Jewel Thomann, Terry Malone, E. A. Mi-chaelson, and Curtis Matheson.

Regional planning

Rural land use survey launched

As a part of its continuing planning program, the Gulf Regional Planning Commission is initiating a land use survey for the unincorporated portions of Hancock County.

A similar survey has just been completed in Harrison County, and will continue into Pearl River and Jackson Counties as rapidly as possible. The land use survey is designed to provide a current and accurate analysis of the manner in which land is presently utilized. Findings will be used in a number of other studies, such as the preparation of county zoning maps and standards, utility plans, location of community facilities, and the Gulf Coast Urban Area Transportation Plan, which has just been initiated.

To assist with field work, the commission has employed William John Egan and Ross Richard Bermond to cover the county, recording information on work maps.

John Different, executive director of the commission, is requesting residents to cooperate by answering to the best of their ability. The two men will carry complete identification and present credentials when interviewing.

Residents will be questioned as to whether the residence is owned or rented, size of family and other related information. Findings will be coded for computer processing and it will not be possible to identify any information as to name.

Additional information on the study can be secured from the commission offices on the second floor of the Hancock Bank building in Bay St. Louis.

County signs new contract for patrol

The necessity of how the patrol force will be maintained is the subject of a new contract which will be signed by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors at their meeting.

The new two-year contract, which begins July 1, was displayed last Monday by board president Russell J. Elliott. It has been under negotiation for some weeks.

A substantial reduction in the patrol force is anticipated because of the smaller amount of money and it is anticipated that Sheriff Fred Curd will be asked to handle the assignment with two or three deputies. It calls for a one-a-week check along the 250-mile road system in the buffer area, inspection of the recreation site and traffic control during rush hours at U.S. 90 and R. 607.

Under the pact which ends June 30, the county has used six men—one from each beat plus a supervisor, and had three vehicles at the start.

Hospital buys blood counter, keeps busy

Held from last week.

Hancock General Hospital trustees Tuesday night accepted the low bid of Coulter Electronic Corp. of New Orleans at $2,950 for a red and white blood cell counter.

Administrator H.J. Blackledge reported the hospital had one of its busiest months on record during May with an average patient load of 46.5 a day. In all there were 1,365 patient days compared with 1,326 in April and 928 in May a year ago.

Operations during the first week of June exceeded the total for May when 11 were performed. In the first week of this month there were 12.

Accounts receivable were discussed with Blackledge reporting the collection figure has been hovering around 79 per cent for the last several months. He announced the new computer is due to be delivered in July.

George McCullough of Minnesota, veteran engineering and manufacturing manager with General Electric, has been appointed manager of GE's Mississippi Test Support Department at Mississippi Test Facility.

He replaces Malcolm J. MacGregor who has been named manager of employee and community relations for GE's Information Service Department, Bethesda, Md.

The two appointments were effective mid-June and both men have now assumed their new roles.

McCullough will be responsible for industrial and personnel relations, including training, personnel development, public affairs, medical services and employee communications.

He began his career with GE in 1948 and holds a doctor of science degree in chemical engineering from Purdue University. Originally assigned to the company's research laboratory in Schenectady, N.Y., he has since been engaged in research managerial assignments in Richmond, Wash., Schenectady and Pittsfield, Mass. Most recently he was manager of the polycarbonate manufacturing section of the chemical materials department and was in charge of that department's operations at Mt. Vernon, Ind. MacGregor, who in his new role will handle computer programs and services on a nationwide basis, joined GE in 1951 after earning an advanced degree from Cornell University.

Tax exempt property to be appraised

Held from last week.

William McWhorter and Associates, of Woodstock, Tex., was retained Monday by City Commission Council to appraise all property now on the city's rolls but in an exempt status.

Appointment of the firm to make the study follows up council's decision of last week to study whether to tax this property. It does not apply to property in public ownership.

Commissioner of Utilities Cyril Glover said this does not mean presently tax exempt property will be assessed but the study will provide information on which council can make decision. McWhorter to expect to take about a week to develop an appraisal.

This is the same firm council used previously to appraise and within the city municipal parks school district. That district required one year to study 1,000 pieces.

Bay native charged in auto fatal

A 21-year-old Bay St. Louis native, George Garcia, Jr., who now lives in Long Beach, was bound over Tuesday to the Harrison County grand jury in connection with the traffic death of Joseph Lassore, 78, a retired Long Beach building contractor.

Garcia, son of Mrs. Jos Buccola of Bay St. Louis and George Garcia of Waveland, was returning home after visiting his parents when the mishap occurred at 10:25 p.m. Monday.

He said that he did not see the elderly man, who apparently stepped into the path of the east-bound vehicle, Lassore and his 13 year old grandson, who crossed the highway just ahead of him, were going east shell crabbing at the time of the accident.

Long Beach Police Chief Harry Kalish said the impact carried the body about 150 feet. Lassore was pronounced dead upon arrival at Gulfport Memorial Hospital. A coroner's jury ruled death by multiple injuries received when struck by an automobile.

Garcia was released on a $1,500 bond after the hearing before Beat 3 Justices of the Peace W.E. Dugan.

Chief Warrant Officer and Mrs. Jeffrey Favre of Atlanta, Ga., who were called home by the death of his grandfather, Ralph S. Blaize, returned Thursday.

Teen Times

Apparently gone are the days when teenagers spent the summer leisurely lounging around, dozing 'til noon and usually becoming sobered by the middle of July that they're anxious to return to the daily routine of classes and other school associated activities. Just about all who aren't enrolled in summer classes, either in high school or college, are gainfully employed.

Some have really fabulous jobs which enable them to save money and travel at the same time. Dannie Raymond is aboard the cargo ship S.S. Del Oro, has already touched port at Beaumont and Mobile, and is now headed for Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina and the West Indies.

Ripple Rausch, who is doing graduate work at the University of London, took advantage of a week vacation to visit Paris and Amsterdam. We wonder if she'll bump into Sarah McFarland who is also studying in England and France.

Larry Jacob is working at MTF and has a desk of his very own. Mary Ann Becker and Patty Burke are GE summer employees. Dale Russell is learning all about finance in her position as teller at Hancock Bank.

Kathy Sams, Hancock County's Miss Hospitality contestant, put her bi-lingual talents to good use at the Pimlico Club where she attended a luncheon last Thursday.

Carver girl Carolyn Daniels is the proud owner of a brand new blue and white sports car. Her photograph will appear in an advertisement in this week's Echo.

Someone wants to know if Gall is the reason Tommy appears to be riding high on cloud nine? And from Darome comes the news that who's still lonely without her flowerchild. A friend from New Orleans, Emily Conn, came over last weekend to help cheer our Jeanie (D.D.'s real mom). Pam joined them and the trio spent some time on the beach. Who were the "coaches" for a big football game on Waveland beach last weekend?

Just a few seen at the Our Lady of the Gulf Church fair last weekend were Linda and Harry, Wanda and Keith, Lynn and Tom and Debbie and Jerry.

Joe Von Antz reports a wonderful time on his recent Miami vacation. Emily is also looking forward to a Florida trip when she goes on vacation with her parents.

Maureen and Richard Stamm were recent visitors to the Sunshins State.

Some cat shalls are still being picked up along the beach when the moon happens to be just right, and at last, large catches of cat hard shell crabs are being brought in daily. Spotted trout were biting close to shore last week and some good sized ones were caught off the new Waveland boat dock.

Cat front

We're very happy to report that Ezzlin Ling's stamoose cat, Titi, was safely returned home shortly after last week's edition hit the newsstands.

Margaret Hodson is due a get well wish having broken her little toe last week.

Sue Wood gets a similar greeting. She fractured a finger when playing football, of all things!

Celebrating

Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Howard of Clormont Harbor recently celebrated their 52nd wedding anniversary at a big family dinner in a plush coast restaurant.

Bortha and Manny Schwartz enjoyed a fabulous vacation in the Virgin Islands where they visited his daughter, Marietta, and her husband, John Huling. Marietta returned home with them to await the arrival of her first baby, due early next month. John will fly up to join her shortly before the blessed event occurs.

Down Girls! The suave man-agers reporting the dashing Mr. and Mrs. Ted Breland, and Ted's having loads of fun with the new facial adornment.

Groom-to-be Burt Taylor furnished vocal entertainment for members of the rehearsal party the night before he and pretty Carol Lively were wed. The pre-nuptial event was held at Club Lodge and must have really been a swinging affair. We hear that the wedding Saturday in Pass Christian was one of the loveliest of the season, and reception guests were still celebrating hours after the happy couple departed for their honeymoon.

Lost lot

Most of town merchants were completely baffled by the appearance of a very small, very fat young man wondering in their vicinity Monday morning. No one recognized the toddler, so city police were summoned, and through their great powers of detection, the man was soon identified as Mayor Johnny Scafield's visiting grandson.

Walter and D.W. North and children are at home once again after covering so much territory during their two week vacation. It would take a whole column just to elaborate upon their itinerary.

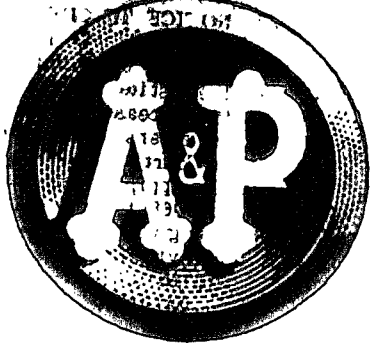

Mr. and Mrs. William Ford's son, Jerry, and his lovely wife, Ellen of New York modeling agency fame, are to appear as guests on Mike Douglas' tv show on Wednesday, July 10.

A happy birthday greeting goes to Louise Hammer. Husband George invited friends in for a barbecue to help her celebrate on Sunday, June 23.

More cat stuff
Cats anyone? This must be the season for feline fun. A cat named Titi paid on a large cat shuamoo and took it

HOW WILL YOU CELEBRATE THE 4TH?

See a parade...
or perhaps a fireworks display?
A backyard barbecue?
How ever you celebrate we hope it will be a glorious 4th

We think lots of folks will be picnicking.
We've anticipated their needs.
Our shelves are stocked with everything to make any picnic perfect.

Here's the best part:
No matter what you buy,
no matter who makes it, if A&P sells it, A&P guarantees it
We guarantee everything... except the weather.
We're sorry about that - but we'll do this:
With you, we'll wish for a perfect day.
Lots of us will be picnicking too!
P.S. Don't forget the can opener?

Thanks

We would like to take this opportunity to extend our heartfelt thanks and appreciation to the many friends and neighbors who assisted and helped us during and after our recent loss of our home.

Especially, we would like to commend the fire departments of Bay St. Louis and Waveland and the many volunteers for their efficient and courageous handling of the fire.

This was a good example of what people will do for others in time of need and how much it helps. Again, we all say "thanks!"

Kennedy wins ob miph yinuo Mallory race

Big Basil Kennedy of Waveland captured Bay-Waveland Yacht Club to victory in the first leg of the Mallory Cup regatta Saturday at Nov Orleans Yacht Club then won two races Sunday to show the competition.

He won three of the five races despite Lake Pontchartrain's well-known squalls, and will advance to the Mallory semifinals at Seabrook, Tex. July 20-21.

Kennedy and crew, Jim Gilly and Andre McDonald, placed third in the opening race Saturday morning. Roy Sellers of Bucares won. But Kennedy took the afternoon race, cut to three miles and one triangle by race committee chairman P. Wee Sheldon because of a severe thunderstorm. It was a tacking duel with Kennedy taking an early lead and holding on until About 33 teen-agers and youngsters are participating in the tennis instruction department of the Junior Auxiliary Summer Fun House which started June 4 and is being conducted by Mrs. Fred Wagner on the St. Stanislaus tennis courts each Tuesday.

Teenagers play from 7:30 to 8:30 a.m. and 10 through 12 year olds from 8:30 to 9:30, Sessions end July 9.

New fishing
 tags arrive;
 7 sale points

If you figure on doing any fishing this summer better hustle out and get a new license -- old ones expire Sunday.

Came warden Pat Toomey distributed the new forms Monday and they are on sale in sheriff Fred Curet's office, Gulf Thrift Drug Store, and Al Kingdon's Barber Shop in Bay St. Louis; Ladner's Grocery, Clarendon Harbor; Woolley's Hardware at Kiln; Roy Barker's Pearl River Marina and the Bayou La Croix Marina.

Toomey also said a Game and Fish Commission rule on raising and hunting of Bob White quail and white tail deer will be shown at 8 p.m. Friday, July 12, in the courtroom of the Courthouse.

Weekend sailing

Phillips captures
 'reprobate' race

Sailing at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club was delayed Sunday afternoon when officials experienced considerable difficulty getting entrants for the Old Reprobate race away from a party that had developed in the starboard wing of the club.

The race scheduled for 1 p.m., finally got off amid cheers and boos in stiff breeze as sailing in plenty of stiff muscled Monday morning. Although each boat was assigned a coach, results of the affair are somewhat hazy but skipper Walter James Phillips got the trophy and all helped in its demolition.

Phillips' crew was Mark and Eileen Eagan with Virginia Miller as coach. Others racing were C.C. McDonald, skipper, Eve McDonald and J. Gordon, crew, Sus Benth, coach, Eddie

Civil defense

Water safety is becoming a primary concern of the county's civil defense operation. Lucien Kidd, CD chief, told the board of supervisors Monday that he needs some regulatory signs and launching areas particularly along the now and born, and some authority to get his warnings hooded.

Fifteen persons were involved in rescue operations over last weekend, Kidd reported.

Because the channel and beach light on the Jourdan River were blocked, one 28-foot boat got marooned on the mud flat at the river mouth, he said, and an old barge is slipping into the channel on Watts Bayou, creating a danger there. Kidd is particularly concerned about the prevalence of 12-foot skiffs off the sand beach, speeding along without regard for children swimming or safety of the occupants.

"We're fortunate we haven't lost anyone yet," Kidd said Monday morning.

Coast Guard inspection of boats might help "out front," Supervisor Russell J. Elliott suggested. Kidd conceded that might be but launching facilities are needed to rescue those who stray.

Sheriff Fred Curet said his office counted 1,240 automobiles along the beach from Bay St. Louis to Clarendon Harbor the weekend before last. This confirms a growing resort area, he said, and for the next two months it will be a difficult job.

Elliott suggested utilizing Herbert Peterson, water rescue chief for civil defense, and the 30-odd boats volunteered for that purpose, to patrol the area but Kidd said they needed authority and some compensation if they were to serve effectively.

The sheriff proposed using land patrols along the beach with binoculars as a partial answer.

The matter of what can and cannot be done was finally referred to County Attorney Joseph J. Benvenuti who had not arrived at the meeting at the time.

Kidd also reported on acquisition of an amphibious duck truck at the cost of $425 as surplus from Camp Shelby which can be used on beach rescue missions.

Elliott confirmed reports of heavy beachfront traffic in the last two weeks. He said his phone calls ranged from requests from motorists to be pulled out of the sand to those from property owners complaining their drive-ways were
